Professional experience in the field of privacy and data protection	Back in 1993 he started his career as self-employed as a ITIL manager/project manager. In that role he encountered often the need for safe storage. Long before the GDPR came in to function Jaik learned how important privacy and secure data is. He educated on these fields now he is external DPO for two companies. Being aware that this field of expertise is important and needs to be united, he joined EADPP.
Personal quote, regarding added value of EADPP DPO certification	We as privacy professionals have to work together, and it makes live easier if you know before hand that the person you are going to work with has a EADPP certification. Because then he or she is qualified by an international organization. He or she knows how to kick ass on the fields of privacy and data protection.
Short description of your contribution to the Certification Committee	It is an honour that I can act as the Chair of the General Affairs Committee and give all my support to the Certification Committee as a member. There is a lot to be done.
Favorite privacy and data protection quote	I have nothing to hide, but I like to keep it that way.
